文化

A Nation of Bicycles

Although cars are becoming more and more popular, China is still well known as a nation of bicycles with a total of more than 400 million bicycles. People are extremely skillful at navigating through dense traffic on bikes, and it is common to see an adult riding with a child behind the handlebar or on the “passenger seat,” taking the child to and from school.

qī shàng bā xià
七 上 八 下

Similar to the English expression “at sixes and sevens,” meaning a state of total confusion or disarray where people are at loggerheads or in a muddle about how to deal with something. The numbers seven and eight are high single-digit numbers and are often used together in Chinese to mean confused and disorderly. This expression means feeling uneasy, being apprehensive, or in an unsettled state of mind.

◇例句1:

明天就要考试了，她还没有看书，心里七上八下的。
